Dear Employer,

Netherwood Consultants Limited (NCL) has put together a compendium of courses with the premise that the challenges businesses face can be surmounted by first class training sessions with the subject matter covered.

We have carefully synthesized these topics divided into various sections to offer employers (who require first class continuing professional training of their employees), a wide range to choose from, given their understanding of the skill gaps prevalent in their different organizations.

We look forward to working with you to accentuate the positives inherent in your workforce, in order to enhance your organization's capabilities of making further success through improved performance of that most important asset – your employee.

We anticipate meeting you shortly to work out how we can be of assistance to you and your organization in this quest to improve the skill base of your workforce.

Thank you for the opportunity to be of service to you and your organization

Yours truly,

Adeyemi Adetunji
